

TRAFFIC INFORMATION

Dear freight customer,

Our vessel Viking Amorella will now be out of the traffic due to the very unfortunate traffic incident which occurred on Sunday afternoon while on the route to Stockholm. All the passengers onboard the vessel have safely been taken ashore during yesterday afternoon. The lorries, trucks and all other vehicles are still onboard the vessel. The technical inspections of the damages caused by the incident started already late last night and are still going on and can take up to two days.

We are working together with the authorities to find the ways of removing the vessel from its current location, unload the vehicles and tug her to a shipyard for repair work. The timetable to all of these separate actions are not confirmed yet.

Turku-Åland-Stockholm -route, will even in the future be operated by two Viking Line vessels now when the ms Viking Gabriella is put into traffic to replace the damaged vessel. This is allowing us to continue to operate the route with unchanged timetable and have twice daily sailings from both directions.

This also unfortunately means that ms Viking XPRS vessel is the only Viking Line vessel operating on the Helsinki – Tallinn -route for the time being.
