Emissions and waste

A significant part of Viking Line's environmental work is our effort to reduce emissions and our impact on the environment in many different ways.

Among other things, we do this:

- reducing energy consumption and minimizing emissions into the air.
- making sure that Viking Line's ships emit no waste or bilge water containing nitrogen, phosphorous or oil into the sea.
- bringing all waste produced on board our ships ashore to be recycled, reused, burned, deposited, composted or otherwise disposed of.
- prohibiting the use of toxic primers on our ships.

Double winner

Viking Line has been awarded both the Sustainable Business of the Year and the Transport Company of the Year at the Finnish Travel Gala. One factor that weighed heavily in both choices was the shipping company's long-term investment in environmentally-friendly technology and in innovations that renew the passenger experience.
